

CRAZY MIXED-UP KIDS

Have every one slap his knees twice, clap his hands twice, then grasp his left ear with his right hand and nose with his left. Slap and clap again, this time reversing hand positions. Increase the speed, alternating the hand positions each time.

YES OR NO

Announce that no one is to say "yes" or "no." Then give half of the group ten peanuts and the rest ten beans. Allow every one a specified time in which to collect counters by obtaining one from each person who answers "yes" or "no" to any question. The one with the largest number wins.

FIND YOUR DOUBLE

The object is to keep the crowd mixed by changing partners several times, having them parade past some judges after each change. March music helps provide atmosphere for the game. First, ask every one to find a partner whose hair color matches his own. Then, form a double column and have the couples march past the judges who select the couple most alike. Repeat by matching people with the same color of eyes, height, weight, or age.

BUBBLE GUM DERBY

Give every one a piece of bubble gum. The first person to make a successful "pop" wins—a fresh supply of gum.
